
ALTHOUGH WE WERE not an enthusiastic booster of the recent fiesta parade in San Jose, the parade, however, did serve one useful purpose.

Without the parade we would have never known that The Press has a "mountie" on its staff in the person of Brent Ulrich, the production manager of the joint.

Brent is an avid horseman and is justifiably proud of the good looking quarter horse he owns.

He was a member of one of the mounted groups that rode in the San Jose parade.

He participated in an unscheduled and impromptu bit of patrolling on horseback that would have done credit to that world-famous "always-get-your-man" corps of Brent's native Canada, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

One of those so-called chicanos who were demonstrating that day from time to time came off the sidewalk and was about to stick a lighted cigarette against a horse's flank when he was surprised in the act by Brent, who was the next in line of horsemen.

FORTUNATELY, THE horse was not touched by the cigarette and as Brent moved his horse up to the hood, the guy started to back up.

And the guy continued walking backward with the horse's chest almost in his face. The crowd opened up and onto the sidewalk the three of 'em went, the horse, Brent and the chicano.

The guy ducked into a store alcove, still backing up. There he was trapped, for "Mountie" Brent just put his horse sideways and effectively blocked the exit.

Then the cops took over and Brent went back parading.

It was Brent's first experience as a "mounted patrolman".

Then, we suppose also, that it was that particular chicano's first experience of having a horse at his throat.

Otherwise he might have acted differently.

Wonder if he will ever try to burn a horse again?

THERE WAS CONSIDERable discussion at the Planning Commission recently about whether it was better to have a storage yard for old cars along Los Gatos Creek than the infamous outhouses that have been an eye-sore for so long.

At the onset it appeared the improvement would be only that of a degree.

A junk yard comprised of wrecked cars as opposed to a row of outhouses.

Really, there didn't seem to be much of a choice.

That is, until the proposed 10-foot high fence that would hide the activities from the freeway entered the picture.

EVEN THE MOST ACtive opponents of the proposed wrecking yard were forced to agree that a 10-foot high fence could hide a lot of objectionable sights.

And, if the outhouses were first removed, it was conceivable that the proposed wrecking yard could be pretty well obscured.

But it is really not quite fair to label the storage yard a "wrecking yard", according to Jack Dawson, local attorney, who was handling the request for the permit.

The yard would be used for the storage of impounded vehicles, he explained. There would be no junking or stacking of cars, he said.

We did not realize there was so much business in impounded cars. There are four other similar operations in the area.

But it was really that fence that won the approval.

It was called in the appli-

Campbell park bond measure wins

Vol. 77 No. 23 Wednesday, June 11, 1969 10¢

378-9136 35 Dillon Avenue Campbell California

In an unparalleled display of community loyalty, the citizens of Campbell on Tuesday gave a resounding mandate to this city's future by overwhelmingly approving the $625,000 park bond measure by a vote of 1737 to 600, a 74% majority.

The 2337 votes cast represented 27% turnout of the registered voters (8517), one of the highest marks for a special election in this city's history.

The thumping victory at the polls on Tuesday was a tribute to a hard-working group of dedicated citizens, headed by Bill Podgorsek, chairman of the Citizens for Parks, and Don Hebard, chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission, who was "ramrodder" on the drive for votes.

The citizens committee spent countless hours in the campaign which actually began early in the year when plans for an apartment complex were approved for adjacent property to the city-owned Rincon Park which was protested by the P and R Commission.

City 69-70 budget hits $3.7 million

City Manager Bob Stephens on Monday night submitted to the City Council the 1969-70 preliminary operating budget, totalling $3,787,132, the largest in the city's history. The "expanded" budget includes $650,000 of funds from civic improvement bonds voted by the citizens.

After the submission of the budget at the routine public hearing called for that purpose, the Council scheduled four budget sessions for the month in which the 130-page document will be perused page by page and finally adopted.

The final session is set for Monday, June 30, the last day of the fiscal year. The preliminary budget along with the six-year capital improvement program will be adopted at that time.

Other public hearings set were for next Monday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the corporation yard on Dillon Ave.; Wednesday, June 18, 7:30 p.m., city hall and Wednesday, June 25, 7:30 p.m., city hall.

The final budget for the fiscal year, however, will not be adopted until August when the actual assessed valuation will be known. At that time the tax rate will be set.

The budget reveals that of the $3,787,132 total, $1,220,610 will go for salaries and $1,655,510 for capital outlay, Debt service will account for $362,495 and services and supplies calls for $548,517.

In his message, Stephens explained that the budget does not allow for any additional personnel, although seven additional personnel had been requested by the department heads. Stephens added that the requests are justified and suggests that the Council take another look at the situation in August when the final figures are in.

The city manager recommended also in his message that the tax rate, based on the $47 million assessed valuation that is anticipated, would be $1.70 per $100 assessed valuation. Of this total tax, 62 cents would be for bond redemptions with $1.08 for general fund purposes.

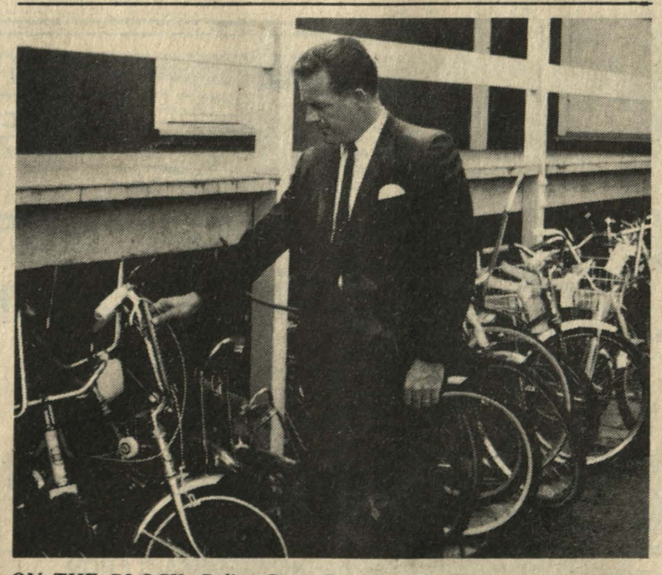
The preliminary budget estimates that the property tax ($1.08) will raise $519,000 this next year and the sales tax income will be $545,000.

Business licenses will bring in $43,000; traffic fines, $75,000; and the cigarette tax, $95,540, according to estimates made by Geoffrey Whitaker, city finance director.

In his summary, Stephens points out: "Our city is looking up to a steel structure which by January 1, 1970, will be a completed 18-story office building. This Tower identifies the City of Campbell as the true "hub" of west Santa Clara Valley.

"Citizen support and leadership in programs and activities designed to improve the image of Campbell is now maintained on a continuous basis. A real civic pride in making Campbell a better place to live and work is evidenced by the many volunteer man hours spent on youth, beautification, conservation, recreation and senior citizen programs.

"The City's City Hall and Library Construction Program, assured by the electorate's favorable vote in the 1967 bond election, will be well under way and hopefully completed in late 1970.....



ON THE BLOCK--Police Capt. Don Burr looks over some of the bikes that will go on the auction block this Saturday, June 14, at 10 a.m. in the City Hall parking lot. Approximately 25 bikes that have been recovered by the police and have been unclaimed for the past six months will be offered to the highest bidder in the semi-annual sale.

Other items recovered by the police, including a set of wedding bands and rings will also be sold.

Drugs taken

Offices of Dr. William E. Kuhlman and Dr. Patrick J. Riley, 621 E. Campbell Ave. were broken into Sunday night by burglars who lifted a large quantity of drugs, amphetamines and syringes.

The door of the office building had been forced open, apparently by someone using their shoulder. The drug seekers used matches and the light from the refrigerator for illumination, and apparently took a large plastic wastepaper basket to haul away their loot. They left a sticky trail from leaky or broken bottles, to Foote St. where apparently a car was waiting.

One appeal wins--one loses at City Council

By a 4-1 vote the City Council on Monday night overruled the Planning Commission zone change denial for Fred Chez (Pollard Road). But a similar appeal by Sam Ishigo (Sunnyoaks) failed to make the grade.

Both appeals needed a four-fifths majority vote of the Council.

In the Chez case the Planning Commission had rejected his efforts to get a 3½-acre parcel on the north side of Pollard Road (near Rolling Hills School) changed from residential to P-D (planned development).

Chez wants to put a small shopping center on the site.

The Planning Commission argued that there was a shopping center now just across the road in Los Gatos and the new Rolling Hills center less than a mile away was not filled. The planners also questioned whether the planned service station complied with the new city ordinance.

Richard Blos, a San Jose attorney, helped Chez present his case to the Council.

Blos first maintained that it really was not an appeal and that only three votes were necessary to override the Commission.

But City Attorney Joe Bonacina ruled otherwise. As it turned out, it didn't make any difference.

The 4-1 vote (Councilman Ed Rogers dissenting) took care of the problem.

In the Ishigo case (Pan Pacific Properties), the Planning Commission had denied the request for a zone change (R-1 to C-H - highway commercial) at 262 Sunnyoaks. It was planned to build a convenience market on the site. The Commission did not feel that the highway commercial should be extended. Through petitions, residents in the area indicated they favored the zone change.

Ishigo was represented at the appeal by Gary Stokes, a

A graduate speaks

A young man, who has been a resident of this area all his life, Phillip John Lauro, was the valedictorian of the graduating class of the University of San Francisco.

Phillip was born in San Jose, July 27, 1947, graduated from St. Lucy's School in Campbell and Bellarmine Prep in San Jose. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lauro, Sr. of 215 S. San Tomas Road, Campbell.

The Campbell Press was fortunate in obtaining a copy of the valedictory address given by this young man.

We are pleased to share it with you:

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS
By Phillip John Lauro,
University of San Francisco

"One great educator became so infuriated with what he called the licentious, outrageous, and disgraceful behavior of students at his college that he quit in disgust. The college was at Carthage, the year was A. D. 383, and the discouraged teacher was, as he relates in Confessions - Saint Augustine. Sometimes students can try the patience of a saint."

So begins a Time essay on the great disruptive force within society today: the American college student. Never before has he been as prominent, and influential as he is now, for better or for worse, according to your perspective.

This is but one reason why I, as a graduating senior, find it so difficult to try to capture four years of my life in four minutes. At best, I can give you a personal perception, a subjective glimpse, a sense, a feeling of what I and my fellow graduates have experienced in our undergraduate lives.

In looking back over the four years, back to 1965, one would think, at first glance, that nothing has really changed that much: The Arabs and the Israelis were continually skirmishing along their common borders; leading economists were forecasting another growing fiscal year, but warned of possible economic recession; the President submitted to Congress the largest budget in the Nation's history; and the cost-of-living hit an all-time high.

And yet, 1965 marks a watershed in American history. There were two occurrences that year whose momentous consequences have definitely measured much of our present and probably much of our future. It was in 1965 that the United States, for the first time, employed its armed forces on independent operations in South Vietnam, moving inexorably toward turning that conflict into our war. It was also in 1965 that the first large-scale race riot in this generation's memory broke out in a ghetto area of Los Angeles known as Watts.

These two events set into motion shock waves that struck at the very heart of American society. Probably the most important consequence of Vietnam and Watts was the fire they lit under the students attending the universities and colleges across the nation. The effects of their subsequent inspiration are all around us.

The militant blacks and leftist students, who are in the forefront of what they term "The 2nd American Revolution", seem to have two watchwords: urgency and militancy. Their impatience, ambition, and determination tag them as the "Now Generation". Their demands, non-negotiable, to be sure, have triggered numerous campus confrontations, violent and non-violent, as well as beatings, kidnappings, arson, bombings, maiming, and the like.

But their plans for revolution have dangerous implications which they only partly fathom. As Father James Schall has pointed out, revolution is a heady game; it is not the answer to all that is wrong with our society; it is just a beginning; there is no substitute for knowledge, for labor, for experience, for slow, painful, growth. What our society needs is not sporadic and aimless revolution, but continual and farsighted evolution.

But what of the University of San Francisco? Why has this school been largely isolated from the campus unrest and black protests that have visited so many other American colleges and universities? The answer I have received from many, "At $38.50 a unit we can't afford to riot" is only a partial explanation. The basic reason for this isolation is the exclusive, particular composition of its students, faculty, and administrators, all largely from white, middle class, Catholic values. In the past, the most foolproof method of avoiding the black problem was, either by design or by circumstance, not to have any blacks. What happened in the past was a perpetuation of conformity and unawareness.

In the few years we have been here, we have seen the University gradually become aware of this struggle, as if awakening from a long, long, sleep. These years have seen the Student Western Addition Project expanded to such a point that almost one out of every ten students has been a member. These years have seen the formation of the town halls, sound-offs, and campus panel discussions. These years have seen the formation of the Peace Fellowship, the Committee for Campus Action, Whites Against Racism, the Tri-Continental Front, and the Black Student Union. These years have seen the University begin to actively recruit minority students, as an addition to an already large number of foreign students.

Yes, these years have seen a beginning, but we must remind ourselves that it is only a beginning. The University has two primary obligations, to the students it purports to educate and to the community in which it resides. These obligations are, of their nature, inseparable. As Mayor Alioto has indicated, "the dominant priority of this nation is to bridge and then to close the gap between the races". As it is a national priority, even more so, it should be a Catholic university's priority.

There are very few poorer images of a university than that of an ivory tower of isolated knowledge; rather, the image of a university should be that of a market place, not in the sense of buying and selling, but in the sense of accessibility and opportunity. As Newman wrote years ago, "A university is a place of concourse, whither come students from every quarter for every kind of knowledge... It is the place to which a thousand schools make contributions".

What should the University do? It should insure its students the broadest possible education, especially on the undergraduate level. It should nurture in them a respect for alternatives; it should encourage the development of an open, critical, analytical mind, not endow with a single-purpose, unseeing, undiscerning mind. What our society needs are students who will not be fooled by the shadows of Plato's cave. If a student is to carry away from the university only one additional attribute, let it be the ability to think, the most dintinctly human quality.

We have, indeed, come a long way from the time when an American President could say, "The business of America is business". For most of us graduating here today, the Willy Lomans of our parents' generation is dead. To those who say that the struggles that we face both here at home and abroad are going to be the downfall and ruin of American society, we reply: the crises that America faces today are not too momentous to be solved, they are too momentous not to be solved. For we remember the words and worlds of two slain brothers. John F. Kennedy gave a warning when he said, "To make reform impossible is to make revolution inevitable". His brother Robert ventured a hope when he wrote, "Some men see things as they are and say why. I dream things that never were and ask, why not?" I trust our generation will continue to ask that same question until they or their children can answer it.

Or maybe it was a "sight-obscuring fence".

In any event, it seemed to be the general consensus that a high fence on the site would be far less unsightly than the outhouses that really have been a sight on the site for some time.

BUILDING OF NEW RE-sidences in Campbell seems to be a lost art, at least of the single family variety, according to the report to date of Wally Byron, city building official.

During the first five months this year, one lone single-family residence permit has been issued. (Last year at this time there had been 62 such permits.)

Duplexes and multiples have also slacked off from last year.

Total building is up slightly, however, due primarily to the Fred Sahadi project at Bascom and Campbell avenues.

You might be interested to know, however, that swimming pool construction this year is keeping pace with last year...There have been eight such permits to date this year. The same as last year.

But just having one single-family home permit during a five-month period, does make one think.

Doesn't it?

SOME OF YOU, WE know, may have become a little bored with the emphasis we continually put on the Fred Sahadi-Pittsburgh Steel project at Campbell and Bascom avenues, the 18-story office building and the huge center that will be built adjacent to it.

Yet the fact seems to be even now obvious that "The Towers" and "The Prune Yard" are going to make a tremendous economic impact on this community.

At a recent CofC luncheon, Sahadi discussed the project with an attentive audience of business and professional people of the community.

Of especial interest was the point made by Sahadi that the complex when completed was expected to generate retail sales of $25 million annually!

THE CITY OF CAMPBELL would derive almost one per cent in sales tax from these sales or, roughly, $250,000 per year.

We note that the entire sales tax for 1966 for Campbell was $350,535; in 1967 $390,657 and in 1968, $492,517.

It is estimated the sales tax will be $535,000 in 1969-70.

In other words when "The Towers-Prune Yard" get rolling, the city will get an increase of 50% in sales tax from that one complex.

Sahadi also estimated that approximately 2500 people will be employed in "The Prune Yard" and between 800-1000 will be in "The Towers".

It is also the belief of many that the impact, both economic and otherwise, will rub off beneficially on the rest of the community.

A PARAGRAPH IN THIS column last week might have unintentionally given the wrong impression.

That happens at times.

It mentioned that one Campbell Little League director claimed in our office that the Little League had not officially endorsed the park bond issue as had been indicated by its listing with other organizations favoring the issue.

Apparently some of the readers of the column got the wrong impression.

But it was not our intent to be critical of the Little League and, we admit, it is poor writing when a misunderstanding occurs. We are sorry about that.

We did not even mention the director's name which was wrong.

We probably should have said that Ted Wackermann, a Little League director, was in the office to question the endorsement.

And let it go at that.

But then again it just goes to show that this column is aptly named.

We went out on the limb on that one.

But what else is new?

THAT SIMULATED "DISaster" at the Rolling Hills School last Wednesday was so realistic that even some of the nurses at the Los Gatos Community Hospital, where the "injured" were taken, believed it to be for real.

Campbell, Los Gatos, Saratoga and the county participated in the make-believe disaster which supposedly stemmed from a crash of a private plane into the school.

The "victims" were 28 youngsters who had been made up to appear injured in the most frightening way.

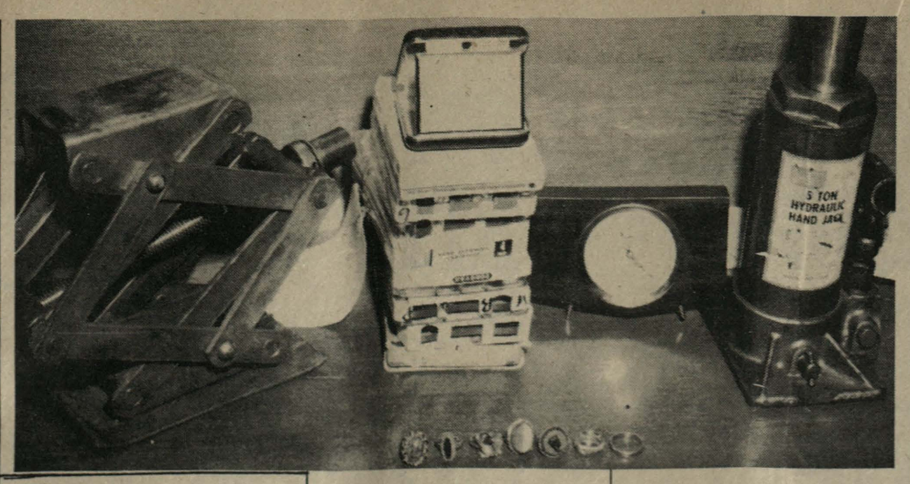
There was confusion, naturally.

But all-in-all it gave excellent training to the firemen, police officers and the hospital crew.

Some were critical because they thought too much time had been taken in trying to make it so realistic.

Fire Chief George Maxwell's answer to that covers it pretty well.

"It could happen."



POLICE TO SELL 'EM---Pictured above are a few of the 16 items, in addition to 25 bikes, that will be sold at the semi-annual police auction this Saturday, June 14, starting at 10 a.m. in the City Hall parking lot. The wedding band set shown is one of the items that will go to the highest bidder.

civil engineer who is also a Cupertino councilman.

A majority of the Council (Bill Smeed, Dean Chamberlin and Ralph Doetsch) voted to override the Planning Commission. However, Mayor Homer Hyde and Rogers stuck with the Planning Commission ruling and thus the appeal lost.

In other actions, the Council awarded Holtemann, Ord & Smith, Inc. the liability insurance coverage for the City on a bid from Glens Falls Insurance of $19,145.

The bid was $3,253 higher than the low but included riot coverage which the other four bidders did not submit.

In another insurance matter, the Council deferred for two weeks the awarding of the life insurance coverage in order for Jeff Whitaker, city finance director, to have time to study the more than 40 bids that have been submitted.

The Council also gave second reading (approval) to three zone change ordinances (1) Wrinkled Prune Annex; (2) 52 Michael Drive (3) 850 W. Hamilton.

The Council, at the request of Bill Wren, public works director, authorized an additional $23,609 to be deposited for the condemnation of parcels needed for the widening of Bascom Ave. under Local Improvement District No. 18.

Wren reminded the councilmen that on Tuesday, June 17, a public hearing on LID No. 18 would be held and that undoubtedly a few of the property owners involved would be on hand to protest.

In another action involving the Bascom Ave. project, the Council directed the public works department to save a stately tree, if feasible, on Bascom near the Pixie Pastures School on Apricot.

The tree barely extends into the proposed roadway. Wren indicated that it was possible to make a slight jog in the curb and miss the tree.

The Council also agreed to the request of Grant Bishop, of the Grant Bishop Chevrolet in Los Gatos, to extend their deadline for delivery of three police cars until Friday, June 13, at 5 p.m.

The car agency because of a wildcat strike, Bishop explained, was not able to deliver the cars in the specified time. Two extensions had been granted. A $770 bond is at stake, if the cars are not in Los Gatos on Friday.

The Council directed the city staff to obtain a cost estimate for maintenance and installation and possible modification of the proposed entrance sign submitted by the Campbell JayCees. Dave Norman described the signs, the first would go on the median strip on W. Hamilton, and submitted blue prints.

Councilman Ed Rogers expressed concern over the lighted part of the signs because he felt that they would be prime targets for youngsters.

He preferred something less breakable.

The proposed sign would be about 8-feet high and 10-feet wide.

The Council also agreed to the recommendation of the Planning Commission that would extend the survey area for the Neighborhood Planning Program to Kennedy Ave. on the south.

City Attorney Joe Bonacina was directed by the Council to take action in the so-called "junkyard case" at 1428 Hacienda on property owned by Ivan Cook. Photos of the location indicate the property in a residential zone gives the appearance of a junkyard.

The Council was also informed by the city attorney that Judge Edgar Taylor's ruling on the local topless case, City of Campbell vs. The Classy Chassy, was expected on Thursday at 4:30 p.m. after three previous postponements by the judge.

VIOLET MEET

The African Violet Society of the South Bay will meet Tuesday, June 17, at 1 p.m. in the Palo Alto Savings and Loan Building, 10250 Sunnyvale-Saratoga Rd., Cupertino. The program will be on "Soil Testing and Potting Mixes". The public is welcome.

A STAGED "DISASTER"---Rolling Hills School was the scene last week of a make-believe "disaster" and the police and fire units of Campbell, Los Gatos, Saratoga and county along with the Los Gatos Community Hospital in the drill, which was so realistic that many thought it was the real thing. The two cars that were burned can be seen in the above photo along with some of the "injured". More pictures of the "disaster" (a plane was reported to have struck the school, will appear in subsequent issues.

IN VIETNAM

Army Private First Class Wayne G. Karnes, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Karnes, 1819 Hacienda Ave., Campbell, was recently assigned as a cannoneer in Battery D, 5th Battalion of the 4th Infantry Division's 16th Artillery near Pleiku, Vietnam.

West Valley College graduates 578 at commencement this Friday

A record total of 578 prospective graduates are expected to receive diplomas at commencement exercises on the front lawn of West Valley College, Campbell Ave. and Winchester Blvd. at 8 p.m., Friday, June 13.

Jack Armstrong, current chairman of the Board of Trustees, who leaves the board this month after serving as a charter member from what is now the Santa Clara Unified School District will be the commencement speaker.

Valedictorian is Mrs. Patricia Hill, 31, mother of two, who has, until this past semester, been attending West Valley College in the Extended Day, or evening program. She attended full-time this Spring, and has an overall 4.0 or straight "A" average for all of her work at the college. In all, she has a 3.88 grade point average, including work performed elsewhere. Her topic will be "A Habit of Life".

Dr. Owen Miller, pastor of the Santa Clara First Baptist Church, will deliver both the invocation and the benediction.

The Pledge of Allegiance will be led by the student body president, Pete Gregerson, recipient of the Dean's Trophy for greatest service to the college by a student this year.

Accompaniment and entertainment will be provided by the West Valley College Symphonic Band, under the direction of Joe E. Davis, and by the College Madrigal Singers, led by Kenneth W. Jewell.

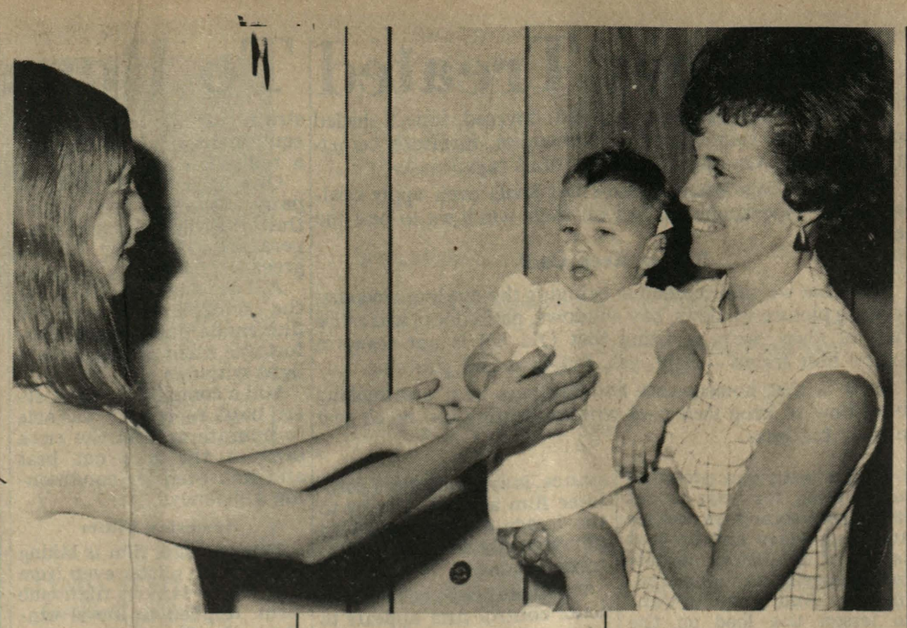
The 578 graduates compare with 407 who graduated last year at the same time, and includes those who finished their work in the Fall semester, according to Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college president.

Among the 578 prospects are 366 men and 212 women, of whom a total of 212 are married and 353 single.

Ages range from 19 to 53, with an average of 24, and 79 of those graduating completed all of their work in the Extended Day program, which usually indicates they were employed full or part-time.

A total of 471 of the students will receive the Associate in Arts degree and 107 the Associate in Science degree, and in all 329 are destined to go on to San Jose State College.

A reception for the graduates and their families will follow the ceremonies, also to be held on the college front lawn.



NOW I CAN---Sheri Davis, 12, is a fully trained baby-sitter following completion of her baby-sitting course conducted by the Campbell Fire Dept. Mrs. Mathew Davis, of Christopher Lane, feels confident in leaving 18 months old Christine with her older sister now that she has completed the course which included telephone emergency numbers, a demonstration of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation; a talk by Dr. Robert Griffith, a pediatrician and an actual demonstration of how to bath a live baby.

ON THEIR WAY---Heading out into the cold world from the academic cloisters are these members of the Marcyes family of 1020 Hedegard Ave., Campbell. They are son Kevin, leaving Campbell High School for San Jose State and a music major; mother, Dorothy, taking an associate in arts from West Valley College on to teacher training at San Jose State, and daughter Carolyn, taking her bachelor's from State and going on for her master's in sociology. Dad, Vern, should get a diploma for paying the bills.

Campbell family takes graduation time stride

It's graduation time in a big way at the Marcyes household this June.

Take Momma for instance. Mrs. Dorothy Marcyes is graduating with an Associate in Arts degree from West Valley College in the liberal arts, and is considering going on to San Jose State to receive a B.A., followed by some teaching.

Daughter Carolyn is graduating this month with a B.A. degree in sociology from San Jose State, and will go on to work for her master's there.

Son Kevin graduates from Campbell High School and will go to San Jose State to major in music, and will probably go on to teach that subject.

Father and husband of this intellectual brood is Vern, an instrumentation foreman, and himself an inveterate schoolgoer. He has attended classes and seminars put on by the Office of Community Services of the college in such widely diverse areas as parapsychology and investments.

Sort of extra sensory perception about the stock market, which could wind up making him a bundle.

And with a wife and two kids going to college--chances are he'll need it.

Colonial manager to head drive for United Fund

James W. Schafer, manager of Colonial Savings and Loan in Campbell, has been named Campbell area chairman for the 1969 United Fund drive, according to Ellis B. Langley, general chairman.

Preparations are now under way for the United Fund "Fair Share" campaign this Fall. The "Fair Share" program calls for donation of one hour's pay per month by participants to aid the 82 member agencies, covering all facets of community life, which benefit from the efforts of the United Fund campaign.

Schaffer and his wife, Jann, are newcomers to the Campbell area. He has recently been initiated into the Campbell Rotary Club.

Schaffer will serve along with six other community chairmen for the Central Area chapter of the Santa Clara County United Fund.

Young swimmers to hold meet

Tantau Swim Team will hold its fifth annual AAU B Swim Meet Saturday and Sunday, June 14 and 15 at the West Valley College, 14000 Fruitvale Ave., Saratoga. This will be the first age group swim meet held at the new West Valley College pool.

Due to the fact there are 4,000 entries there will not be a check-in of swimmers prior to the days events. Heats have already been established and the program will show event and heat of each contestant. The meet will start Saturday at 8:30 a.m.

Only two Tantau swimmers placed at the DeAnza "A" Swim Meet June 7 and 8. Anne Gatlin placed fourth in 50 meter free and third in 50 meter back.

Mike McKenzie took fifth in 50 meter back and ninth in 50 meter fly.

FRESNO GRADUATES

Receiving B. A. degrees from Fresno State College during recent graduation ceremonies were Robert McKay Burton and John Lawrence Sparling.

SUMMER OUTDOOR CAMP

The purpose of the West Valley College Summer Outdoor School is to develop an understanding of the world of nature and to teach the children conservation and the arts of outdoor living. Classes in the natural sciences, earth sciences, arts and crafts, camp crafts, and physical education will be included.

The NATURAL SCIENCE classes will be taught by Mr. Donald Stoner of the West Valley College Biological Sciences Department. Mr. Stoner is an outstanding Biologist and Naturalist. He will be assisted by Mr. Steven Bordi of West Valley College. The children will study the ecology of the local area and learn to recognize plants and animals and the need for conservation of natural resources. They will learn to use the microscope, participate in field trips and make a museum of collected specimens.

The EARTH SCIENCE classes will be taught by Mr. Ted Herman of the Geology Department of West Valley College. The children will learn to recognize the characteristics of the rock strata and other geological conditions in the local area, participate in geological field trips and make a display of collected specimens.

ARTS AND CRAFTS classes will be instructed by Mr. Joseph Livingstone of West Valley College. This unique program will emphasize the use of natural materials and will include woodcarving, making cooking utensils, basket weaving, etc.

CAMP CRAFT will be directed by Miss Evonne Davenport of San Jose City College. Learning to live out of doors will be stressed. Fire building, outdoor cooking, and outdoor safety instruction is planned. An outdoor cookout along with one night "under the stars" is included.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND AQUATICS. Organized games and swimming will be included in this program. Because of the depth of the college's 50 meter pool, swimming instruction can not be given and recreational swimming will be restricted to those who can prove that they can swim 25 yards or more. The physical education and aquatic program will be conducted by the entire staff.

TRANSPORTATION
Each camper must provide their own transportation to and from the Summer Outdoor Camp.

"T" SHIRTS
"T" shirts will be provided for each camper.

COUNSELORS
In addition to the instructional staff, sixteen counselors will assist in the Summer Educational Camp. The counselors will be men and women students from West Valley College.

THOMAS SMITH – CAMP DIRECTOR
Mr. Smith is an instructor in physical education and outdoor education at West Valley College. He has a number of years experience with camp programs.
Assistant directors will be: Evonne Davenport and Steven Bordi. Participation will be limited to 150 children per session. Applications will be accepted on a first come-first served basis.

Children's program starts June 14

The Santa Clara County Free Library, Campbell branch summer reading club will be off to a flying start June 14 with the theme "Cool it with books this summer". Nearly 200 children participated in last year's program and more are expected to sign up this year.

All children wishing to sign up should read one book or more after summer vacation has begun, return it to the library, and ask for their reading folders. A record of each child's summer reading will be kept in his folder. Those children who read 10 books or more by August 15, the program's closing date, will be given certificates at the special awards program later in August.

The children's librarian, Mrs. Sandra Kelly, will be happy to help children make selections for their summer reading.

Another feature of the Campbell library's summer program will be the children's story hours designed especially for children between 5 and 9 years of age. These story hours will be conducted by Mrs. Kelly on Wednesday mornings at 10 during the month of July.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Dear Mr. Vierhus:

By the time this letter is printed it is our hope that the Park Bond Issue will have been approved by the citizens of Campbell.

However, we would like to clear up any misunderstanding that your readers might have because of your remarks in your "Out-on-the-Limb" column of June 4th regarding the Campbell Little League's endorsement (or lack of it) of the Park Bond issue.

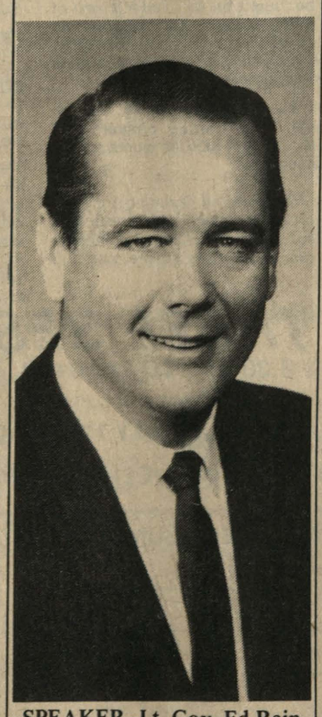
The Campbell Little League's sole purpose for being is to provide a fine recreational program for youngsters so certainly we will support any effort which will contribute to improving these programs or providing new programs.

We have cooperated with those citizens who worked to put the bond issue on the ballot. Members of the Parks and Recreation committee attended one of our meetings and secured many signatures on the petition. Members of the Citizens Committee also were welcomed to distribute literature at our recent Mother's Day Breakfast.

We respect and will defend the right of any of our members to speak their piece as a private citizen, however, only the Board of Directors can be the spokesman for our League.

Therefore we would like to emphasize that the Board of Directors speaking for the members of the Campbell Little League has endorsed the Park Bond issue and wholeheartedly support the Rincon Park project.

Very truly yours,
Board of Directors
Campbell Little League
Lou Ferrari, president
Joe McGrody, vice-president



SPEAKER--Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke will be the guest speaker at the 1969 annual meeting and public services award dinner of the Santa Clara County Taxpayers' Association next Monday, June 16, at the St. Claire Hotel in San Jose.

According to Bart van Eck, association president, this is the first time the lieutenant governor has appeared in San Jose since his appointment to the post by Governor Ronald Reagan in January, 1969. Reinecke was a congressman prior to his appointment.

The dinner, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. preceded by a cocktail party at 6:30 p.m. is open to the public.

Windows Treated To Bounce Sun

Windows today are being painted, covered, tinted, shaded and blinded to guard people, merchandise, furniture, carpeting, pets and even plants from the sun's rays.

Some residents in the nation's hot spots even apply cardboard and tape aluminum foil on their windows to beat the heat.

How to Keep Cool

Now that we've succeeded in bringing the outdoors indoors, by using picture windows, bay windows, patio doors and entire walls of glass, we're realizing that Old Sol is not always a home's best friend — light, yes, but heat and glare, no.

So it is that homeowners and business men are thinking about how to keep their cool without putting too much heat on their budgets.

People with sun problems are looking for ways to cut heat from solar rays, reduce annoying glare and prevent fading of upholstery, carpeting, draperies and other furnishings. And they also want to lessen the load on the summer cooling system.

Many scientific tests are being conducted to come up with effective answers for combating solar rays. An increasing number of products are being evaluated.

Control by Film

One development, for instance, is an aluminized polyester film applied directly to the inside of the glass. This film actually bounces the sun from windows.

The metalized finish of this solar control film appears to be a one-way mirror during the day, providing a view for occupants but daytime privacy from passersby. This mirror-effect also adds to window attractiveness.

By bouncing the sun's rays back through the glass, regardless of angle of sun penetration, the film takes the strain off air-conditioning equipment, making possible a reduction in cooling costs.

One East Coast oil company, for instance, claims that the film brought temperatures down by 12 degrees.

A Los Angeles school for the handicapped said the film made pupils more comfortable when applied to skylight windows.

And a computer in an Eastern bank reportedly was able to operate around the clock because the film cut heat and improved air-conditioning efficiency.

Removing Glitter

Solar control film is taking some of the glitter even from Las Vegas' famous nightclub strip. Applied to motel windows, the film is said to assure daytime sleepers of a good rest by reducing the heat, thus making black-out draperies more effective.

Solar control film is applied directly to windows. Its application is a job for a qualified professional.

Because of its strength, when bonded in place, the film makes glass resistant to shattering. One store, for example, reported that solar control film kept a display window from breaking in bits during a windstorm.

It can be cleaned easily with non-abrasive cloth and cleaning solution.

The film, produced by 3M Company and called Scotchtint solar control film, underwent testing by the Yellott Solar Energy Laboratories, Phoenix, Ariz., and was found capable of reflecting up to 75 per cent of the sun's heat and 82 per cent of its glare.

Mom Checks

Pointers Guide Her in Improving Ease, Efficiency of Headquarters

For the modern Mom the kitchen is still headquarters for preparing meals to satisfy her family's appetite. That's why kitchen convenience is so important to her.

The typical homemaker decides she needs a new kitchen when her home is over 10 years old, according to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau. And with at least 40 million homes over this 10-year mark, about $3 billion will probably be spent on kitchen remodeling this year.

Here are 12 pointers to help the homemaker with remodeling in her blueprints to determine what the "comfort quotient" for a work-saving kitchen should be:

1. Work Centers. The kitchen's three work centers are built around the sink, refrigerator and range. There should be plenty of counter space around each, and the three should form a triangle to save steps.
2. Counters. Make sure these are the right height for the homemaker who will be using them — not for the so-called "average woman" of 5'4".
3. Cabinets. Kitchen cabinets should extend to the ceiling. True, top shelves are hard to reach, but they're a good place to store seldom-used items. Cabinet doors should open and close smoothly.
4. Sinks. Those sinks with double or triple bowls are more useful than the single bowl type.
5. Electric dishwasher. Hours of drudgery can be saved by installing an electric dishwasher. New models have settings that enable the homemaker to wash everything from delicate stemware to heavy pots.
6. Garbage disposal. An electric food disposer saves countless steps to the garbage pail and keeps kitchens more sanitary.
7. Instant Hot Water. Installation of a device that dispenses teakettle-hot water makes for easy preparation of instant drinks.
8. Faucets. Built-in aerators, spray hoses and built-in stoppers are features of new faucets that make using the sink easier.
9. Lighting and Ventilation. Make sure the kitchen is cool enough in summer and warm enough in winter, with proper ventilation to eliminate cooking smells.
10. Small Appliances. Include a mixer, a blender and other small appliances that make food preparation easier.
11. Walls and Floors. Choose colors that trigger a cheerful mood but ones that won't grow tiring, for wall and floor coverings.
12. Installation. Have the new kitchen installed by a plumbing contractor who offers the complete remodeling project. He'll coordinate all needs — plumbing, tile setting, cabinet-making, electrical work.

To Improve With Built-Ins

For remodeling the kitchen with built-in range products — such as electric ovens and surface units — kitchen experts offer these tips.

Don't install the oven too high. Ideal installation height should be about 36 inches from the floor, with the oven door at countertop level when open.

Don't put built-in ovens and surface cooking units directly side-by-side. At least nine inches of countertop should separate the appliances to allow plenty of space for pots and pans.

Bethal installs Miss Stephenson as queen

Miss Cynthia Lyn Stephenson, incoming Honored Queen selected "Garden of Friendship" as the theme of the 44th installation ceremony of Campbell Bethel 174, International Order of Job's Daughters.

Cindie chose pastel shades of a spring garden for the decor. Incoming officers and choir members carried small white baskets filled with pastel garden bouquets. Miss Stephenson carried a small white Bible, presented to her by the Bethel Mothers Club.

Each incoming officer handed a different colored flower to Cindie, who was standing under a flower bedecked garden archway.

Miss Onnalee Larson and George Larson, Guardian and Associate Guardian opened the ceremonies, following an invocation given by Rev. Anthony Wayne Myers of the Congregational Church of Campbell. Cindie's father, Nelson Stephenson, a Master Mason of Charity Lodge, Campbell, acted as Master of Ceremonies.

Miss Stephenson received her Honored Queen's pin from her sister Debbie Stephenson, installing officer for the evening. Debbie was then presented her past Honored Queen's jewel.

Elected officers of the Bethel are the Misses Sue Mc Farland, senior princess; Kathy Corner, junior princess; Andrea Macer, guide; and Sharon Erickson, marshal.

Serving the Bethel as appointive officers are the Misses Carol Lawrence, recorder; Shelda Macer, treasurer; Sylvia Miller, chaplain; Sue Mitchel, librarian; Sue Cocking, musician; Margaret Zeek, first messenger, Marion Kravica, second messenger; Leslie Hamilton, third messenger; Sandy Lukacs, fourth messenger; Gail Warner, fifth messenger; Gail Jennings, senior custodian; Kathy Grove, junior custodian; Karen Powell, outer guard; Becky Leach, inner guard; Linda Bernal, assistant recorder and Alice Mackay, assistant musician.

Assisting as installing officers were the Misses Debbie Harris, Leslie Anderson, Lynette Long, Debbie Larson, Jan Walford, all Past Honored Queens of the Bethel and Karolyn Kuri and Charlene Perry, Majority members.

Paul Cocking, soloist, sang, "No Man Is An Island" and "Let There Be Peace On Earth". In charge of the Guest Book were the Misses Claudia Lawrence, Lisa Congdon and Debbie Congdon.

Demolay ushers for the evening were Kjarten Armann, Tom Jeffery and Stan Stanford, all of Los Gatos De Molay.

The reception room of the Scottish Rite Temple San Jose was decorated to carry out Cindie's theme for the reception and dance following the ceremonies. Mrs. Lois Pezzaglia is Deputy Grand Guardian.

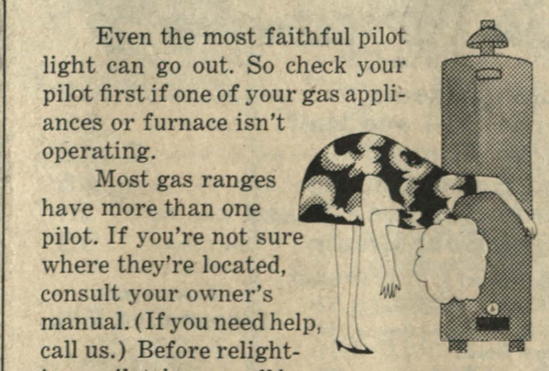
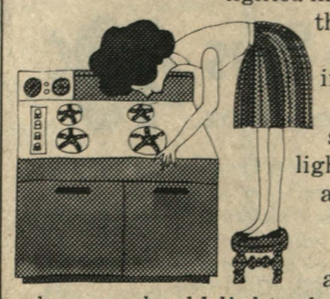
How to warm up a cold pilot.

Even the most faithful pilot light can go out. So check your pilot first if one of your gas appliances or furnace isn't operating.

Most gas ranges have more than one pilot. If you're not sure where they're located, consult your owner's manual. (If you need help, call us.) Before relighting a pilot, be sure all burners are turned off. Allow a few minutes for the air to clear, then touch a lighted match to the pilot opening. The pilot should light with a small, blue flame, and the burner should light when you turn it on. If the burner fails to light, call us. We'll send a man out to check it.



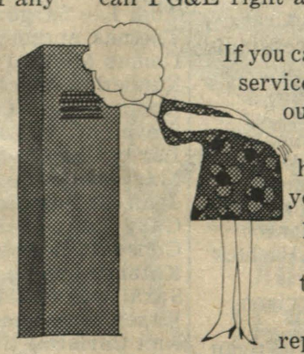


Modern gas water heaters and dryers shut off completely if the pilot goes out. And most models bear manufacturer instructions for relighting. If you can't get the appliance operating, call us or the installer.

If the pilot of any gas heater or furnace goes out, TURN OFF THE MAIN BURNER VALVE FIRST. Allow ten or fifteen minutes for any accumulation of gas to clear before relighting pilot (following the instructions on the equipment). With the pilot relighted, the furnace or heater should operate. If it won't, call us.

PILOTS NEEDN'T GO ON VACATION. Some folks prefer to shut off furnaces and water heaters during the summer or vacations. However, it's more convenient to turn off the main burner, but not the pilot. When the pilot is lighted, your furnace is ready to work on a cold day. Most hot water heaters can be turned to "PILOT" when not in use. This keeps the pilot lighted and prevents the main burner from heating water.

WARNING: Never look for a gas leak with a lighted match or candle. If you suspect a gas leak, call PG&E right away and we'll check it.



If you call for a PG&E service man to check out a gas leak or an appliance, have him show you where your pilots are, and how to relight them. If an appliance needs repairs or parts, an appliance man, plumber, or furnace man should be called.

P.S. Although the cost of living is up 183% since 1935, typical PG&E gas and electric rates are down 13.9% We do all we can to give good service at low rates. PG and E

Letters to the Editor

FAMILY LIFE OPPOSITION

Dear EDITOR:

Recent advice to parents on Family Life Education from the Governing Board of Hazelwood Home and School Club was published in your letters to the editor. They advised parents to be sure to "have all the facts available..."

Well over a year ago we initiated such personal inquiry from sources they recommend. We were referred to a parent forum agenda which had taken place Jan. 29, 1968 which consisted of the San Mateo curriculum.

In response to our subsequent, in-depth analysis of that agenda material we were invited to confer with two principals. We welcomed the opportunity to have our questions answered. After a full morning of cordial meeting it became clear they did not have answers to our questions.

Specifically, we asked why FLE in the school? We were told there was a need. When we asked who determined the need, no specific answers were forthcoming. We asked who is pushing FLE because it was obvious to us it was being promoted from somewhere. We were told the Office of the State Superintendent is pushing it.

We wrote to Dr. Rafferty for further clarification only to find out that was not so. We were told during the meeting that a FLE curriculum had to be ready to go when state legislation requiring FLE would be passed. We were not politically ignorant enough to accept the idea of tax dollars being spent in anticipation of legislation not yet passed. (The legislation subsequently did fail.)

Is there any reason we should have found ourselves in basic disagreement with the concepts put forth to justify FLE as projected for Campbell?

Since that meeting in April 1968 we have undertaken to find out as much as possible about the subject from any and every source available both pro and con.

We are well aware of pilot classes in Campbell District. Campbell's FLE Curriculum Guide says (Page 3), "A committee of teachers and administrators was formed in the fall of 1968 to discuss the methodology of studying and making recommendations in regard to FLE for Campbell Union School District". In a phone conversation with a district official months before this, we had been informed of the timetable for pilot classes. We can only conclude now that the plans preceeded the study committee.

"Interesting rumors" are alluded to by Hazelwood's Governing Board with advice to get facts by calling district office and your school. Please do. Obtain a copy of the Campbell FLE guide. Study it carefully. Check the resource guide - only the grade level and page numbers are changed on selected pages directly reproduced from the San Mateo Teachers Resource Gude.

Note carefully - the "FLE Defined" and decide for yourself whether all opposition has been unfounded in its concern over the concept of the school's assuming "Total Life Education, or as they say "develop the population".

Notice the stress on inadequacy of the parents. All of us know a free society depends upon each family unit (parents) developing and molding their own children. Do you really want to give the state (i.e., school) that parental authority?

Carefully study - the "behavioral objective for FLE" put forth in the booklet (pages 32-35). Are all these appropriate for the public school's role?

Carefully read - the answers to frequent questions (Page 39) you'll find the information that the 10 current pilot classes may be expanded to perhaps 20 classes next year. May we project that there will be 40 in 1970? How about 1971?

Carefully note - the district's suggestions of how to learn about the program. All those suggestions listed are associated with the program.

We can only conclude that the writers of FLE curriculum book have either ignored or failed to anticipate any judgments which would oppose FLE in concept!

The guide concludes with a highly subjective dressing down of parents who are actively opposed to the program. Parents opposed to FLE in their schools are then (as taxpayers) financing criticism of themselves through materia! themselves through material produced by their own school district officials.

Yes, please do inform yourself, but please don't limit your sources.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson

WELCOME TO THE NEW "MISTER DONUT"---Thomas J. Meade, right, new franchisee of the Mister Donut Shop at 1495 Winchester Blvd., receives his certificate of graduation from Gerald Winokjr, director of training.

Mister Donut manager trains for business

Thomas J. Meade is the versatile manager of the new Mister Donut Shop located at 1495 Winchester Blvd. A native of Virginia he had lived in the Chicago area for the last 19 years where he was associated with railroad maintenance equipment.

After spending vacations for the past several years in the San Jose area, he decided to locate in this area, and recently became a franchisee for Mister Donut of America. In anticipation of operating the Mister Donut business here, Meade completed the eight weeks training course at Westwood, Mass. There he learned all the delicious secrets of the good donuts served at his shop as well as the ways of operating a successful business, which is based on serving the "World's Best Coffee" and also the variety of donuts with fast and courteous service.

As part of the Mister Donut's grand opening, Koo Koo the Klown will be on hand to welcome the children from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Sunday, June 15.
